

ABOUT MYRA JOHNSON

Award-winning author and native Texan Myra Johnson writes Christian romance and women's fiction—emotionally gripping stories about love, life, and faith. Among other honors, Myra is a two-time finalist for the prestigious ACFW Carol Awards, a three-time Maggie Awards finalist, winner of Christian Retailing's Best for historical fiction, and winner in the Inspirational category of the National Excellence in Romance Fiction Awards.

Myra's writing career was launched with her first short story sale in 1985. Since then her stories, articles, and devotions have appeared in more than 30 publications. She taught magazine writing for The Institute of Children's Literature for nine years and has been a frequent contributor to Christ in Our Home, the quarterly devotional publication of Augsburg Fortress Press. Her first novel, One Imperfect Christmas, debuted from Abingdon Press in September 2009. She currently has more than 25 novels in print, including her post-World War I historical romance series titled "Till We Meet Again," and the "Flowers of Eden" historical romance series set during the Great Depression. Myra's most recent novels are part of a Love Inspired contemporary romance series set in the Texas Hill Country, and she's currently at work on a new Love Inspired series set in Montana.

Married since 1972, Myra and her husband are the proud parents of two beautiful daughters who, along with their godly husbands, have huge hearts for ministry. Four energetic grandsons and three talented granddaughters take up another big chunk of Myra's heart. After a five-year sojourn in Oklahoma, then eight years in the beautiful Carolinas, Myra and her husband returned to the Lone Star State in 2019 and are thrilled to be home once again enjoying wildflowers, Tex-Mex, and real Texas barbecue! The Johnsons share their home with two very spoiled rescue dogs and a snooty but lovable cat. The Johnsons are active in their church and enjoy singing in the choir.

Myra writes full-time and is a member of American Christian Fiction Writers and Faith, Hope & Love Christian Writers. She is represented by the Natasha Kern Literary Agency. For more information, visit Myra's website at www.MyraJohnson.com.